
Your Final Package

AVC 248 · Design Self-Promotion · Week 12

“Everything you built, ready to send.”

Pulling it all together

This is not a class exercise anymore. Your final package is a real submission, polished and aimed at an actual employer you want to work for.

Real

a genuine application to a company you would be proud to join.

Whole

every piece from the semester, working together as one package.

Yours

a cohesive identity that looks and sounds unmistakably like you.

Six pieces make up the package. Let's walk through each.

Resume and identity package

Your resume and visual identity are the first things an employer sees. They should look like they came from one confident designer.

FINAL RESUME

Tailored and tight

Refined for your reach job, every line earning its place. Designed, proofed, and exported clean and ready to send.

IDENTITY PACKAGE

A consistent personal brand

Logo, type, and color carried across your resume, portfolio, and contact pieces. One look, everywhere you appear.

The leave-behind

After the interview ends, what stays on their desk? A small, well-designed piece keeps you memorable long after you walk out.

Tangible

A card, mini-booklet, or print object they can hold. Physical sticks in a way a screen does not.

On-brand

It matches your identity package exactly. Same fonts, colors, and feel as everything else you handed them.

Memorable

One sharp idea, beautifully made. It is the nudge that gets you the callback.

The updated portfolio

Your portfolio is the proof behind every claim on your resume. It needs to shine in two formats, because employers will meet you in both.

ONLINE

Live, current, and findable

A clean site with your strongest work, easy to share in a link. Updated, fast, and working on every screen.

PRINT

Polished and in hand

A printed book for the interview itself. Sequenced to tell a story and built to be flipped through across a table.

The final recorded presentation

The capstone of the package: you, presenting your work in your own words. It shows employers how you think and how you communicate.

Recorded

A polished video walkthrough of your best projects. Practiced, paced, and clear from start to finish.

You, presenting

Your process, your choices, your story. They hear how you talk about work, not just see the work itself.

Shareable

One link that travels with your application. It works even when you are not in the room.

It keeps working after the course

The course ends, but your tools do not. You leave with a living system that keeps supporting your career long after the final grade.

RENDER DASHBOARD

Your home base stays live

Your resume, portfolio, and identity assets live in one place you control. Update them anytime, for any new role.

CAREER AGENT

A portable partner

Your AI career agent goes with you. It researches companies, tailors applications, and prepares you for what comes next.

BEFORE YOU SEND

The final package, complete

Six pieces, one cohesive submission. Check each one off, and you are ready to apply for real.

Final resume

Identity package

Leave-behind

Online portfolio

Print portfolio

Recorded presentation

All six in hand? You are ready to hit send.

You are ready for the real thing.

“The course ends. The career begins.”